April 2, 11:30am • Flute Quartet
April 2, 12:30pm • Brass Ensemble
April 3, 11:30am • Trumpet
April 3, 12:30pm • Horn Ensembles
April 5, 12:30pm • Chamber Choir
April 6, 11:30am • Trombone Choir
April 6, 12:30pm • Pegasus String Quartet
April 7, 12:30pm • Bassoon Quartet
April 8, 12:30pm • New Music Ensemble
April 9, 12:30pm • Saxophone Quartet

VIRTUAL AND ONGOING EVENTS

Throughout the week, virtual events are available for those who prefer to watch from home. Advance registration through the UCF Box Office is required; patrons can “pay what they want” to watch, starting at free. Virtual events are ticketed at arts.ucf.edu/celebrates. All others are ticketed through Dr. Phillips Center.

Tuesday, April 6, 6pm • Arts On! A Virtual Showcase of Creativity at UCF
Theatre alumnus and Broadway veteran Justin Matthew Sargent ’08 takes viewers behind-the-scenes to see how the arts and creativity come alive at UCF through interviews, video clips and conversations during this two-hour online showcase.

Wednesday, April 7, 4pm • Letters of Love, Life and Longing in PRINT: A Hands-On Transcription Workshop
Trace the communication networks of early America through hand-written letters on topics like love and marriage, gossip and sex, and family relations.

Thursday, April 8, 6pm • The Druze: An Ethnic Minority in the Holy Land
Join Kenneth Hanson, director of Judaic Studies at UCF, for a screening of his 30-minute documentary with conversation to follow.

Friday, April 9, 5pm • Happy Hour Reading: Creative Writing
Raise a glass to literature! Faculty and alumni from the UCF Creative Writing MFA program read pieces from their bodies of work.

Saturday, April 10, 4:30pm • “If Black Language Ain’t Artful, Then Tell Me, What Is?” By Dr. April Baker-Bell
The linguistic scholar discusses the history, art and resiliency of Black Language and the need for equity in language in education.

Ongoing • Artful Moments: Creative Highlights from the School of Visual Arts and Design
Explore a selection of curated clips, interviews, photos, exhibitions, events and more from SVAD. Each feature will showcase facets of the school and the exceptional work that students and alumni are creating.

Ongoing • Project Spotlight: 10-Minute Virtual Play Festival
Theatre UCF’s student production group brings their flash playwriting festival to public audiences. Watch throughout the week and vote for your favorites.

Tickets, schedule and more at ARTS.UCF.EDU
Events are subject to change. Visit arts.ucf.edu/celebrates for event updates.
Friday, April 2, 7:30pm • A Knight of Opera: Carmenella and Opera Scenes
An event that will be loved by children and adults alike, UCF Opera performs an updated version of Cinderella, followed by scenes from famous operas.

Saturday, April 3, 7:30pm
UCF Choirs presents Through Unity We Shall Overcome
The UCF choirs inspire unity through music. Among other works, the performance features a new piece celebrating the 100th anniversary of the women’s suffrage movement.

Monday, April 5, 7:30pm
A Knight to Shine 2021: A Musical Theatre Showcase
Musical theatre students on the brink of graduating present a cabaret-style performance, with songs from popular Broadway musicals including Waitress, Chicago, Wicked, West Side Story and many more.

Wednesday, April 7, 7:30pm
UCF Percussion presents Inuksuit by John Luther Adam
Designed to be performed outdoors, Inuksuit is a unique experience for both the performers and the audience. The musicians start at the stage and move to surround the audience for an immersive sound experience.

Thursday, April 8, 7:30pm • A Knight of Dance
This evening of dance showcases the incredible talents of student, alumni and faculty choreographers and dancers. The concert features 17 original dances from genres such as tap, ballet, pointe, contemporary, lyrical and jazz.

Friday, April 9, 7:30pm • Flying Horse Big Band
Always a festival favorite, UCF’s Flying Horse Big Band under the direction of saxophonist and American jazz musician Jeff Rupert promises a fun night of jazz hits. Program to be announced!

Saturday, April 10, 7:30pm • UCF Symphony Orchestra
The orchestra will perform a work by a trailblazing American composer, Mother and Child by William Grant Still, as well as the chamber orchestra version of Shostakovich’s String Quartet No. 8 and more.

Thursday-Sunday, April 15-18
Orlando Ballet presents Peter Pan
Fly through a starlit London night and dive headfirst into a magical adventure in Neverland in Jorden Morris’ Peter Pan. More information at orlandoballet.org.

Tickets, schedule and more at ARTS.UCF.EDU